

BEN HARTLEY

hartley.design
ben@hartley.design

+64 28 421 6712
+44 77 847 24549

70 Aramoana Avenue
Devonport
Auckland 0624

Hi, I'm Ben, a designer and developer with experience working with large-scale teams, agencies and as a freelancer.

My expertise includes: Planning and user experience design, information architecture and wireframing, branding and visual design, front-end development, and simple integration with a CMS to add and edit content.

Work Experience

Fat Beehive - Designer & Frontend Developer

November 2015 to December 2017 - London, UK

At Fat Beehive I was one of the two Designers responsible for the visual side of projects, ranging from initial planning and information architecture, wireframing and hi-res UI design, through to the frontend development.

Riskmethods - User Experience Designer

January 2015 to October 2015 - Remote

In this freelance role, I provided user experience guidance and user interface designs across a variety of elements on the Riskmethods platform. I also produced visual assets for the company such as a style guide and logos.

NZME. - Digital Product Designer

July 2013 to December 2014 - Auckland, NZ

As the only designer on the Digital Product team, I was responsible for bringing a wide range of products and features to realisation. I worked with a talented team to update and improve The New Zealand Herald website and worked on feature sites like Driven and Viva from concepts through to high-resolution design solutions.

References

Rachel Chance

Chief Executive Officer at Fat Beehive

rachelfleming@gmail.com

Olav Stetter

Chief Technology Officer at Riskmethods

os@free-machines.com

Cameron Wright

Digital Product Manager at NZME.

cam@cam.geek.nz

SKILLS

User Experience
Interface Design
Frontend Development
Backend Development

INTERESTS

Illustration, Writing,
Photography, Travel,
Guitar & Piano